

My family and I have called Sterling Heights home for almost two decades. The city of Sterling Heights is where I married my wife, raised our two children, and started my small business. As a proud American, I cherish the freedom we enjoy and I pledge to protect it against all enemies foreign and domestic. I will work on restoring our traditional values and teach our children to pledge their allegiance to our flag under GOD.

As a freedom fighter, I will never run out of energy and will always get involved on your behalf until your demands are met, and objectives are accomplished. Couple of things that I feel distinguishes me from others; I'm not a career politician, I'm a career patriot. I'm not politically correct, I am respectfully bold, and thus I will never hesitate to speak firmly on any issue.

I have always strived to make a positive difference in people's lives. As a student, I supported my family while attending college holding up to three jobs simultaneously. My perspective changed in the wake of the 9/11 attack on our beloved country. I found myself compelled to do something, so I decided to join the fight. In around 2002 I began working for the Federal government, gaining experience in different areas, Defense, Homeland, and State.

Throughout my professional career I wore multiple hats; OSINT instructor, HTT instructor, Special Operations, field interrogation, Red-Team, Task Force and finally as a Senior Intelligence Analyst. What I'm most proud of is my service to our country, honorably serving alongside our military personnel in combat more than five times to war zones as a contactor under the same Uniform Code. Sustaining battlefield injuries while supporting Operation Iraqi Freedom and Operation Enduring Freedom.

Today, I am asking that you let me fight for you in Lansing. I will uphold my oath to the constitution and will remind politicians that they have a duty to serve the people not special interest groups. I will strive to protect our freedom, uphold the Constitution, restore the American way of life and most importantly protect our families.
